Nashville Chapter ▽ American Guild of Organists ▽ January, 2008

<http://www.nashvilleago.org>

FROM THE DEAN

Dear Friends,

Another January and new year will soon be upon us (or are already are, depending on when you read this). Some find the switch to a new year on the calendar a good time to make a fresh start. Whether you have been doing a job for a few months or thirty years, it can be a good opportunity to make new goals and plans.

Consider making education one of your ambitions for 2008. There are many ways each of us can continue to be educated in our work as it relates to the AGO. Some ideas include turning out for monthly AGO meetings, reading the various articles in your copy of The American Organist, or attending the AGO National Convention this summer in Minneapolis (remember that the registration fee goes up after January 31).

Plan to take advantage of the educational opportunities at our January meeting. We will meet on Monday, January 7 at Brentwood United Methodist Church for a Lecture/Demonstration on Organ Music of African-American Composers by Anthony Williams. Dr. Williams' presentation in the Sanctuary at 7:30 PM follows the 6:30 PM dinner. There will be an abundance of well-lit parking for this event. Enter the church through the doors by the big "hands" statue.

Anthony Williams is currently Associate Professor of Music and University Organist at Fisk University in Nashville. In addition, he serves as Director of Music and Arts and Organist at First Presbyterian Church in Hendersonville. A native of Nashville, Dr. Williams has studied with Robert Glasgow, Marilyn Mason, David Mulbury, Peter Fyfe, and Paul Jordan. He has performed throughout the United States, Central America, and Europe. Edwin Mellon Press will soon publish his dissertation, The Keyboard Music of John W. Work III.

I hope to see you on January 7!

Peace,

Andrew Peters
Dean

The American Guild of Organists (AGO) is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization. Its members include organists, choir directors, pianists, vocalists, teachers, organ builders and tuners, clergy and lovers of organ music. Its purpose is to promote the organ in its historic and evolving roles, to encourage excellence in the performance of organ and choral music, and to provide a forum for mutual support, inspiration, and education of Guild members.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA CONFERENCE

The year 2008 marks the Olivier Messiaen year, the 100th birthday anniversary of one of the world's most famous and revolutionary 20th Century composers. The University of Alabama School of Music is celebrating "Olivier Messiaen: French Connections" with a unique and wonderful, world class series of events which will take place at the Moody School of Music on Friday and Saturday, January 25 and 26, 2008. On Friday evening, January 25 at 7:30, UA music faculty, Noel Engbretson, Faythe Freese, Carlton McCreery, Osiris Molina, Peter Rovit, Charles Snead, and the University Singers under the direction of John Ratledge will perform works by Messiaen, Hakim, and Vierne.

Two works of particular note on Friday evening:
1. "Quartet for the End of Time," a rare opportunity and life-changing experience to hear Messiaen's "Quartet for the End of Time", will take place on Friday, January 25 at 7:30 at Moody School of Music. 2. "To Call My True Love to My Dance" (world premiere) also on the Friday evening program, a world premiere of "To Call My True Love to My Dance" commissioned from Naji Hakim, and performed by Faythe Freese.

On Saturday, January 26 at 4:30 PM, Daniel Roth, titular organist at St. Sulpice, Paris, France will perform works by Nivers, Clérambault, Boëly, Widor, Tournemire, Messiaen, Grunenwald, Roth and Falcinelli. Mr. Roth will close with an improvisation on a submitted theme.

2008 University of Alabama Church Music Conference: January 25-26, 2008. The concerts above are part of the 2008 UA Church Music Conference. Saturday workshops feature a forum on worship planning, seminars on handbells, the French Psalter, children's choirs, organ, improvisation, choral conducting masterclasses and a choral reading session. Guest masterclass artists and clinicians include: Daniel Roth, Susan Berg, Stephen Cary, Kenneth Fields, Faythe Freese, John Ratledge, Jenny Mann, Shelly Meggison, Michael Morgan, Diane Schultz, John Semington and David VanderMeer.

ST. OLAF CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL

It was an awesome experience to attend this year's festival at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minnesota, on Saturday night, December 1st. The festival included five hundred singers in five choirs with an orchestra of almost 100 instrumentalists. The last festival I had attended was in 1948. At that time the Viking Male Chorus was student directed, and, as a Senior, I had been chosen by the singers to be the director. Sometime in the 60's a faculty member became the director.

The Festival is held three times — Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon, with a capacity audience at each. The Saturday night concert was video taped, and is televised on national public television during Christmas week. After flying to Minneapolis, I drove in a blinding snowstorm thirty-five miles down to Northfield! I hope many of you will hear and see the telecast on Channel 8 here in Nashville: Wednesday, December 19, 9:00 PM; Thursday, December 20, 3:00 PM; or Sunday, December 23, 12:00 midnight.

THE CHARLOTTE CHAPTER POE

The Charlotte Chapter will host a Pipe Organ Encounter (POE) from July 13-18, 2008. We are the only chapter in Region IV hosting such an event in 2008. The Charlotte POE planning committee is working diligently to ensure the POE will be a success, but we need your help in promoting and publicizing it. Up-to-date information including registration forms, housing location, faculty biographies, scholarship forms, registration fees, and registration deadlines for the POE are on the Chapter website at <<http://www.charlotteago.org>> (click on "POE 2008").

The website will be continually updated as new information becomes available. Registration will open (with a maximum capacity of 30 students) on January 1, 2008. Students ages 13-19, with piano proficiency at or above the level of a Bach 2-part invention (previous organ study is not required), are invited to attend.

For more information, contact Patrick Pope at <poe@charlotteago.org>.
